

Structured Language Experience Story “ad” #2

Tad and Mademoiselle Madden went to the park to play badminton. Mademoiselle Madden, who was a very bad girl, decided to play a practical joke on Tad. Mademoiselle Madden put adhesive on Tad’s badminton racket, and when he picked it up it adhered to his hand. Now Tad, who greatly admired Mademoiselle Madden, first was mad but soon became very sad that Mademoiselle Madden played this practical joke on him. Mademoiselle Madden saw how sad Tad was and she decided not to be a very bad girl anymore. She reached into her bag and took out a jar of radish additive that was more than adequate in removing the adhesive that stuck Tad’s hand to his racket. Tad was glad to have his hand free and he and Mademoiselle Madden played their game of badminton.
