

Structured Language Experience Story “ale” #1

A male salesman from Yale named Dale stopped at a restaurant to have kale. The kale was stale and made Dale sick so he walked outside for some fresh air. While taking the air, he heard a tale about a female whale that lived in the ocean nearby.

Whenever there was a strong gale, the whale would swim near the shore and exhale a huge spout of water. It was an awesome sight.

Dale had never before seen a whale and decided to move from Yale to this town in hopes of one day spotting this female whale.
