

Structured Language Experience Story “am” #2

Pam was lying on the hammock one day when she heard a clamor. She scanned the place where it seemed to occur. All of a sudden a small animal followed by a large cat the color of a yam scampered across the yard. She quickly grabbed her camcorder and ran it with all the stamina she had. She tried to ambush the cat. “Scram,” she yelled at Sam, the cat. After the clamor ended, she picked up and pampered her long lost and scared hamster Scamper.
