

Structured Language Experience Story “eal” #1

A card dealer decided to have a meal while he was dealing some cards. He really was hungry. He came to the realization that he wanted some cornmeal or some cereal. He decided to have some oatmeal. He went to his cupboard and pulled out a teal bowl. The bowl had a lid that would seal his food inside. He ate and the food congealed in his stomach. He was squealing with delight when he was full.
