

Structured Language Experience Story “eal” #2

Neal Pealerd had a realization that he really hated his real estate job. He had thought that it was his ideal job and had attacked it with zeal. But, all of the dealing sometimes felt like stealing. Now eating veal at mealtime was his only happiness.

Driving back from his lunch meal, Neal's car squealed to a stop, as he realized what it was that he wanted. Neal wanted to heal his inner self. He wanted the peace of training seals as they jumped through the teal water. So, Neal went back to his real estate office and made the best deal of his life. He had his real estate license repealed. Then Neal Pealerd went off to train seals at the Felmeally Zoo.

