

Structured Language Experience Story “ee” #1

Once a sweet, but meek, teenaged cheerleader had been practicing for a weekend game, when an unforeseen accident injured her spleen. She screeched and wept as she was taken to the hospital, for now she would miss her weekend game.

When the hospital housekeeping came to clean her room, they found that she was gone. They peeked in every room in the hospital looking for her, but she was nowhere to be found. She had slipped past the greens-keeper and went to her game after all!