

Structured Language Experience Story “en” #1

Ben found an envelope on the desk in his dad’s den. The words “Do Not Open” were written on the envelope. Because the envelope was forbidden, Ben became more curious. He wondered why the envelope hadn’t been hidden since no one was permitted to open it. Ben left the den to go play Concentration with his sister Jennifer. When Ben found Jennifer, she was drawing with a pen that had purple ink, the same color pen used on the forbidden envelope. After seven games of Concentration, Jennifer went to her father’s den. She brought back the envelope that said “Do Not Open.” Jennifer handed the envelope to Ben and asked him to open it. Enclosed was a letter to him. It read:

Dear Ben,

I enjoy playing games with you, especially Concentration. Thank you for being a wonderful brother.

Love, Jennifer

The forbidden envelope ended up being a wonderful present for Ben.
