

Structured Language Experience Story “en” #2

The mendacious Kenny was pensive. He watched the sentinel closely. Although he knew that the sentinel was a generous, sensitive gentleman, Kenny would have to slip by him without a word. He waited until the sentinel passed. He entered the pentagon shaped men’s department store. He had spent his last penny, and now he needed some men’s clothing.

His hand reached for a pair of suspenders when suddenly he was knocked over. The sensitive sentinel bent over him and picked up his chipped dentures. He said, “I know a good dentist at the state penitentiary!”