

Structured Language Experience Story “est” #1

Lester was a cowboy who rode out of the West. He wore a badge on his vest. Lester had come for the outlaw Chester. Chester was a pest.

Lester said, “Hands up, you’re under arrest.”

Chester crossed his arms on his chest. He refused the request. This was a test.

Lester said, “You hurt my esteem. We can’t let this fester. Give yourself up, dear little Chester.”

“Oh, all right,” said dear little Chester. “I give up. You’re the boldest, slickest, smartest cowboy there ever was.”
