

Structured Language Experience Story “est” #2

The scowl seen on Fred, the X-ray technician, said that something was wrong. The highway patrol estimated the damage to be fullest to the birds. Was this crime premeditated? Traces of the pesticide used to poison the animals in the estuary indicated it was not federally approved. The environmental scientist was not a coward. He dealt with the matter head on and used his physics knowledge to create a remedy to clean the poisoned area. He filtered the polluted area and rid it of the parasites and poison. All the animals would eventually be saved.