

Structured Language Experience Story “ew” #2

Mr. Dalew, the jeweler, knew that trouble was brewing. He was closely watching a bubble gum chewing teenager with a crewcut. Suddenly, the gum chewer dropped the new pewter mug and pulled out a screwdriver. Mr. Dalew was told that he was being robbed of all of his jewelry. Mr. Dalew threw the jewelry in a bag that grew and grew.

The robber grabbed the bag and flew out the door, but he was tripped by Mr. Dalew's nephew, Drew. The robber flew through the air and landed in the sewer. Just as the police pulled him out of the sewage, the newspaper photographer took a picture of the robber, Drew, and the bag of jewels. Mr. Dalew was happy to get his jewelry back.
