

Structured Language Experience Story “im” #2

Jim and Tim had an important job to do. While playing a scrimmage game of soccer against a rival team they glimpsed a large tree limb hanging over their school. The tree limb looked very flimsy and seemed like it might fall on their school at any time. The tree limb needed to be trimmed but for two small boys this task was impossible. Jim and Tim sat down to come up with some plan to take care of the tree limb no matter how implausible. Suddenly Tim sprang up with a glimmer of hope in his eye. Tim's plan was so simple. It was impractical for Jim and Tim to trim the tree limb, but Mr. Slim, the school custodian, could do it. So Jim and Tim went off to find Mr. Slim and tell him about the flimsy tree limb that needed to be trimmed.
