

Structured Language Experience Story “ip” #2

The hippopotamus gripped the logs that he pulled to the shipyard. The shipbuilder was a young whippersnapper who was in a chipper mood as he watched the hippo lead the shipshape operation. But, suddenly the hippopotamus slipped on the slippery ground. It caused a ripple effect as logs flew, and one clipped the young whippersnapper in the neck, giving him whiplash. Now the tip-top shipyard looked like a shipwreck. The shipbuilder was no longer chipper.