

Structured Language Experience Story “ir” #1

Irv went to the circus for his birthday. He was filled with mirth as he watched the irrepressible clowns in the circles. They skirted around the house on fire, and then they put the fire out with squirt guns.

Then the ringmaster directed the crowd to look at the girth of the elephants. There were girls in iridescent costumes on their firm backs. It was a miracle that the girls didn't fall to the dirty floor.

The only thing Irv didn't like at the circus was the irritating man behind him. It really irked him that the guy spent the whole time flirting with his girlfriend. When Irv's mom asked the man to be quiet, he just smirked. However, Irv still managed to enjoy the circus. Irv said that it was irrefutable; this was his best birthday ever.
