

Structured Language Experience Story “ol” #1

The bolt of lightning delivered a jolt of voltage to the police car. This colossal problem needed a quick solution. The doleful policemen realized that the jolt had turned their police car into molten metal. Even the guns in their holsters began to feel warm. Policeman Goldberg insisted that Officer Soldfry go first, as they bolted from the car which was rolling downhill.

Polite policeman Goldberg had a case of the doldrums as he looked at the golden molten metal that used to be his car. But, back at the police station the others bolstered their spirits. Their fellow police officers used this golden opportunity to give Soldfry and Goldberg a vacation to the polar region. This was a perfect solution to chase away the doleful policemen's doldrums.

