

Structured Language Experience Story “or” #1

Cory, the orphan, was lucky to sleep in the dormitory at the end of the corridor. He felt very important and normal as he placed his forehead on the torn pillow. After his father's coronary, he had been sleeping outside by the cornerstone of Morton's Bank.

When Cory woke up in the morning, he found that he was very fortunate. Lori and George Spory, owners of the dormitory, had formulated a plan to help him. Mr. and Mrs. Spory were getting a court order to adopt him. Now Cory could spend every night in the dormitory with Lori and George Spory. Then, he was going to change his name to Cory Spory.
