

Structured Language Experience Story “oss” #1

Ross was such a cruel boss that he had become an albatross around Flossy's neck. Every evening she thought of work until she was tossing and turning all night. Flossy was at a loss to know how she would ever sleep. Flossy tossed the blankets across the bed. She crossed the room to work on the crossword puzzle.

Flossy glossed over the clues for the crossword puzzle. Finally, her thoughts crossed over to thoughts of Ross again. She realized that she was at the crossroads of her life. Flossy no longer was at a loss as to what to do about her cross boss, Ross. She asked Ross to join their lacrosse team. Now that Ross isn't her boss on the lacrosse field, he's also learned not to be so bossy at work.
