

Structured Language Experience Story “ow” #1

The rowdy clowns stopped powdering their noses to have a powwow. They now needed to vote on which clown was going to milk the howling brown cow. Frowning at this thought, the first clown said, “The last time I milked the brown cow I lost my crown.”

Another clown replied, “I milked the howling brown cow when we were downtown, and it got milk on my fancy gown!”

Finally, one clown threw in the towel and growled, “Let’s get rid of the howling brown cow from our act!”

However, all the clowns crowded together and said that nowadays it was too hard to find good help. So, they stopped clowning around and took turns milking that howling brown cow.
