

Structured Language Experience Story “um” #2

A bum wanted to play a drum. It started to rain. This made the bum glum. An umpire, who was a good old chum, gave him an umbrella. Now the bum was no longer glum! He not only played the drum, but he learned to strum a banjo. The bum’s music is no longer humdrum. Now a number of people gather and listen to him drum and strum. They all stand around and hum music to the eardrum.