

Structured Language Experience Story “us” #2

The customer in the rustic restaurant was rustling through the items clustered on the table. Accidentally, the customer dropped his wife’s mustard and custard on the lusterless floor.

Customarily, the trustworthy janitor, Russ, cleaned the floors. But, this time the bustling busboy, Gus, tried to clean the mustard using the dustpan. This caused a dusky stain to appear on the lusterless floor.

Russ twirled his mustache and said, “Gus, you must grab a mop from the musty and dusty closet to clean this mustard and custard stain.”

Gus tussled with the jammed closet door. Suddenly, it opened. A muskrat hustled out of the musty room.

All of the customers just ran out of the rustic place. Now Gus and Russ no longer care about cleaning the custard and mustard off the lusterless floor.